

In the Name of Arav the Judge, Highest in Justice and in Mercy:

In the hope of a just peace and mutual understanding, I,

Etienne de Kolo

High Law-Priest of Arav the Judge

address

Colwynn de Rondell

Imperial Ambassador to the Iron Confederacy

In good faith, in the sight of my Patron Arav, I intend to attend your summit at the Spring Solstice to discuss a treaty aimed at addressing certain matters of the law.

I will arrive with a small party of Templars on the eve of the Equinox Day, at around the ninth hour. I understand there is a central "hub" in Anvil; please send one of your serfs there to provide directions to your camp.

My Templars have further business to discuss with others at Anvil, particularly the matter of Jean Valois and his criminal associates, and they will wish to speak with you. Nevertheless, I expect this discussion to take some time, so please plan accordingly.

Please note that I am not here to discuss matters of trade or the current Imperial sanctions, and nor am I positioned to use these matters with regard to negotiation. There is enough benefit in the treaty I propose to negotiate it on its own terms.

In respect, and in hope of a fruitful discussion, I look forward to our meeting.