

Hello Shaman,

You and your people have shown your willingness to honour our ancestors bones with the generous gift of the ossuary. We thank you for this, and we look forward to forming new bonds of kinship between our people and yours in our shared home.

The shamans of Skarsind have told us of your difficulties with controlling the voices of fearful or unruly ancestors of your past. We mystagogues have many techniques in dealing with this; in recompense for your kindness and willingness to accept our views, we invite you to a ceremony where we can show you some basic techniques to control the voices from across the abyss.

This will take place at The Tabernacle of Honoured Bones in Southpines, Skarsind. We will expect you at 10pm on Friday night - we have invited all the shamans we know of. As we will be listening to the ancestors, come prepared to achieve a heightened state where you hear them, in whatever manner you prefer.

One note; this tabernacle is a sacred place to us and the ancestors, and so humans are not welcome at this ceremony.

On behalf of the Illarawm, we look forward to our meeting.
