

Alderei,

we have much to discuss and it is time to advance our Boyar's plan.

There is a shop in Braydon's Jasse which has some interesting wares, I'd like to speak to you there.

Diego's fine wares has much that would interest anyone with impeccable taste. The shopkeeper doesn't mind what they overhear either.

I'll see you there on the first night of the summit, quarter past eight.

Let Mother Varushka know if you cannot make it.

Regards,

Hansa Tovenovich