

To the proprietors of the Looking Glass

Word of your publication has reached my ears, which you should be flattered to hear. Since I at the Winter Solstice I claimed the throne as King of the Forest of Arden, witnessed by the Arch mage of Summer. I sit, equal to Eleonaris, Meraud and Cathan Canae in the Summer Realm.

I grant you the honour of coming to the Forest of Arden through the Hall of Worlds, at the fourth hour after noon of the Saturday of the Spring Equinox. It is heard that you may hear my story, ask your questions on behalf of the Empire and then be able to tell the tale of my glorious rule and vanquish of the Gryphon Lord. Should you be tardy or fail to attend my audience then I will open my offer to the organisation known as the Pledge.

I look forward to entertaining you in my realm

Jaheris
