
For the past few weeks you have heard rumours from friends and family of strange black robed naga-like creatures appearing from regions and accosting artists, cooks and creative types nearby. They appear to be harmless, if annoyingly persistent, and seem to be insisting on offering some sort of magic “dust” that they say grants immense inspiration to arty types. Anyone who takes it says they are overwhelmed by powerful and obsessive inspiration until they next go to sleep, either for a nap or for the night.

They tend to disappear back into whatever realm they came from as suddenly as they appear, but everyone who has met them has heard them excitedly talk about some sort of “Anvil Rich III Art Festival” that will be happening on a Saturday evening, though from what people say these things don’t seem organised enough to turn up at a specific time for an event. In any case, most people don’t appear to have come across these strange creatures, so it seems like they are attracted to something specific.

This is an OOC document you should not take it into play. Feel free to make any notes about what your character remembers from the dream or vision instead.

For the past few weeks you have heard rumours from friends and family of strange black robed naga-like creatures appearing from regions and accosting artists, cooks and creative types nearby. They appear to be harmless, if annoyingly persistent, and seem to be insisting on offering some sort of magic “dust” that they say grants immense inspiration to arty types. Anyone who takes it says they are overwhelmed by powerful and obsessive inspiration until they next go to sleep, either for a nap or for the night.

They tend to disappear back into whatever realm they came from as suddenly as they appear, but everyone who has met them has heard them excitedly talk about some sort of “Anvil Rich III Art Festival” that will be happening on a Saturday evening, though from what people say these things don’t seem organised enough to turn up at a specific time for an event. In any case, most people don’t appear to have come across these strange creatures, so it seems like they are attracted to something specific.

This is an OOC document you should not take it into play. Feel free to make any notes about what your character remembers from the dream or vision instead.

For the past few weeks you have heard rumours from friends and family of strange black robed naga-like creatures appearing from regions and accosting artists, cooks and creative types nearby. They appear to be harmless, if annoyingly persistent, and seem to be insisting on offering some sort of magic “dust” that they say grants immense inspiration to arty types. Anyone who takes it says they are overwhelmed by powerful and obsessive inspiration until they next go to sleep, either for a nap or for the night.

They tend to disappear back into whatever realm they came from as suddenly as they appear, but everyone who has met them has heard them excitedly talk about some sort of “Anvil Rich III Art Festival” that will be happening on a Saturday evening, though from what people say these things don’t seem organised enough to turn up at a specific time for an event. In any case, most people don’t appear to have come across these strange creatures, so it seems like they are attracted to something specific.

This is an OOC document you should not take it into play. Feel free to make any notes about what your character remembers from the dream or vision instead.

For the past few weeks you have heard rumours from friends and family of strange black robed naga-like creatures appearing from regions and accosting artists, cooks and creative types nearby. They appear to be harmless, if annoyingly persistent, and seem to be insisting on offering some sort of magic “dust” that they say grants immense inspiration to arty types. Anyone who takes it says they are overwhelmed by powerful and obsessive inspiration until they next go to sleep, either for a nap or for the night.

They tend to disappear back into whatever realm they came from as suddenly as they appear, but everyone who has met them has heard them excitedly talk about some sort of “Anvil Rich III Art Festival” that will be happening on a Saturday evening, though from what people say these things don’t seem organised enough to turn up at a specific time for an event. In any case, most people don’t appear to have come across these strange creatures, so it seems like they are attracted to something specific.

This is an OOC document you should not take it into play. Feel free to make any notes about what your character remembers from the dream or vision instead.

For the past few weeks you have heard rumours from friends and family of strange black robed naga-like creatures appearing from regions and accosting artists, cooks and creative types nearby. They appear to be harmless, if annoyingly persistent, and seem to be insisting on offering some sort of magic “dust” that they say grants immense inspiration to arty types. Anyone who takes it says they are overwhelmed by powerful and obsessive inspiration until they next go to sleep, either for a nap or for the night.

They tend to disappear back into whatever realm they came from as suddenly as they appear, but everyone who has met them has heard them excitedly talk about some sort of “Anvil Rich III Art Festival” that will be happening on a Saturday evening, though from what people say these things don’t seem organised enough to turn up at a specific time for an event. In any case, most people don’t appear to have come across these strange creatures, so it seems like they are attracted to something specific.

This is an OOC document you should not take it into play. Feel free to make any notes about what your character remembers from the dream or vision instead.

For the past few weeks you have heard rumours from friends and family of strange black robed naga-like creatures appearing from regions and accosting artists, cooks and creative types nearby. They appear to be harmless, if annoyingly persistent, and seem to be insisting on offering some sort of magic “dust” that they say grants immense inspiration to arty types. Anyone who takes it says they are overwhelmed by powerful and obsessive inspiration until they next go to sleep, either for a nap or for the night.

They tend to disappear back into whatever realm they came from as suddenly as they appear, but everyone who has met them has heard them excitedly talk about some sort of “Anvil Rich III Art Festival” that will be happening on a Saturday evening, though from what people say these things don’t seem organised enough to turn up at a specific time for an event. In any case, most people don’t appear to have come across these strange creatures, so it seems like they are attracted to something specific.

This is an OOC document you should not take it into play. Feel free to make any notes about what your character remembers from the dream or vision instead.

For the past few weeks you have heard rumours from friends and family of strange black robed naga-like creatures appearing from regions and accosting artists, cooks and creative types nearby. They appear to be harmless, if annoyingly persistent, and seem to be insisting on offering some sort of magic “dust” that they say grants immense inspiration to arty types. Anyone who takes it says they are overwhelmed by powerful and obsessive inspiration until they next go to sleep, either for a nap or for the night.

They tend to disappear back into whatever realm they came from as suddenly as they appear, but everyone who has met them has heard them excitedly talk about some sort of “Anvil Rich III Art Festival” that will be happening on a Saturday evening, though from what people say these things don’t seem organised enough to turn up at a specific time for an event. In any case, most people don’t appear to have come across these strange creatures, so it seems like they are attracted to something specific.

This is an OOC document you should not take it into play. Feel free to make any notes about what your character remembers from the dream or vision instead.

For the past few weeks you have heard rumours from friends and family of strange black robed naga-like creatures appearing from regions and accosting artists, cooks and creative types nearby. They appear to be harmless, if annoyingly persistent, and seem to be insisting on offering some sort of magic “dust” that they say grants immense inspiration to arty types. Anyone who takes it says they are overwhelmed by powerful and obsessive inspiration until they next go to sleep, either for a nap or for the night.

They tend to disappear back into whatever realm they came from as suddenly as they appear, but everyone who has met them has heard them excitedly talk about some sort of “Anvil Rich III Art Festival” that will be happening on a Saturday evening, though from what people say these things don’t seem organised enough to turn up at a specific time for an event. In any case, most people don’t appear to have come across these strange creatures, so it seems like they are attracted to something specific.

This is an OOC document you should not take it into play. Feel free to make any notes about what your character remembers from the dream or vision instead.

For the past few weeks you have heard rumours from friends and family of strange black robed naga-like creatures appearing from regions and accosting artists, cooks and creative types nearby. They appear to be harmless, if annoyingly persistent, and seem to be insisting on offering some sort of magic “dust” that they say grants immense inspiration to arty types. Anyone who takes it says they are overwhelmed by powerful and obsessive inspiration until they next go to sleep, either for a nap or for the night.

They tend to disappear back into whatever realm they came from as suddenly as they appear, but everyone who has met them has heard them excitedly talk about some sort of “Anvil Rich III Art Festival” that will be happening on a Saturday evening, though from what people say these things don’t seem organised enough to turn up at a specific time for an event. In any case, most people don’t appear to have come across these strange creatures, so it seems like they are attracted to something specific.

This is an OOC document you should not take it into play. Feel free to make any notes about what your character remembers from the dream or vision instead.

For the past few weeks you have heard rumours from friends and family of strange black robed naga-like creatures appearing from regions and accosting artists, cooks and creative types nearby. They appear to be harmless, if annoyingly persistent, and seem to be insisting on offering some sort of magic “dust” that they say grants immense inspiration to arty types. Anyone who takes it says they are overwhelmed by powerful and obsessive inspiration until they next go to sleep, either for a nap or for the night.

They tend to disappear back into whatever realm they came from as suddenly as they appear, but everyone who has met them has heard them excitedly talk about some sort of “Anvil Rich III Art Festival” that will be happening on a Saturday evening, though from what people say these things don’t seem organised enough to turn up at a specific time for an event. In any case, most people don’t appear to have come across these strange creatures, so it seems like they are attracted to something specific.

This is an OOC document you should not take it into play. Feel free to make any notes about what your character remembers from the dream or vision instead.