During the season, word reaches your ear of the Suranni heretic – now apparently a Wayist of sorts – Jean Valois, now safely in the Empire. Well, “safe” might be too strong a word: he’s some way south of you on the Zenith war-front, rescuing Urizeni slaves from the Druj.

The last you heard, they were at a certain location a little way north of the Arch of the Sky, a once-prominent Spire destroyed by the recent Druj invasion. Should anyone wish to go find them, that’s surely where they would have to go.
