

Archmage!

In the name of the Iron Duke I greet you.

I wonder if being Archmage of Summer sometimes feels a little like being one of us doing the bidding of the Keeper of the Crossroads, endlessly being asked to arrange things.

The Lord of the Forge recognises your authority in the Empire, and your ability to get things done. He also recognises the challenge of dealing with the sometimes fractious rulers of the realm of Summer, and hopes that you will be grateful, not piqued that he takes in an interest in the organisation of the Tourney to determine the new Patron of the College of Ice and Darkness.

I delight in tourneys and celebrations of all kinds and I am glad to have been chosen to assist your planning. I hope you have been able to delegate the more tiresome tasks of contacting those who have held interesting tourneys in recent years and arranging somewhere to talk and will be able to send someone to meet me and lead me to the gathering when I arrive in the Hall of Worlds at around two in the afternoon on the Saturday of the Equinox.

Until we meet
