

The following letter arrives by Winged Messenger.

---

Ashborn Pakt, Ambassador to Asavea,

Your message surprised me - but I should not have been surprised - of course the dutiful believers of the Empire would not hesitate to seek me out. You do my Pride a great service with your words. I thank you.

My restoration of the Temple has won much adoration from the Plenum - through my action they are coming to understand the Wisdom of the Virtues - that the Way is not a means of corrupting the legacy of the Asav - that it is no disease of belief that the Empire seeks to spread as a miasma of faith. No, the Virtues are inherently Noble. they are inherent in all things. The Way is a means for these essences to be seized and turned to the elevation of the spirit!

A liaison would be much appreciated - I have acquired a copy of the previous arrangement from allies of mine and believe it should do nicely. I await to hear more.

I have sought to dispatch representatives of my priesthood to the Empire, so that they might make your acquaintance and exchange ideas. Perhaps, if all goes well, we may accept the same from you. They will fly the flags and sails you have requested.

Portilium Inaposo