

Greetings to the Archmage of Night

You are cordially invited to attend to the Chrysalis Crucible, accessible through your Hall of Worlds, at 4pm on the Saturday of the summit of your Winter Solstice, to witness the Rubedo of Azoth.

The Rubedo marks the final cessation of Murit and Soghter, and their refinement into the perfection of Azoth.

You may bring others with you, but your party must be no more than eight in number, in resonance with the Eight Spokes of the Wheel. Those who have any lingering business with Murit or Soghter may desire this opportunity, as well as those who wish to witness an ending of note. Kahendrin Wordsmith would be welcome among such a number.

This gathering is a celebration of death and of birth. We invite those in attendance to remember how their lives have been changed through the works of Murit and Soghter. We invite them to partake of the bountiful transmogrification of Azoth. We also invite them to bring gifts to Azoth. We understand it is a tradition among your people to give gifts at births and to offer funerary goods to those passing; both of these will be suitable to mark the change into Azoth.

This is not an audience with Murit, with Soghter, or with Azoth. Murit and Soghter are distilled and refined too far to give meaning to their presence; Azoth has yet to fully form from the Chrysalis Crucible. Nevertheless, those in attendance will be in the presence of all three, for all are each other now.

Join us in this celebration, to mark a beginning and an end.
