Travelling to Anvil last season became impossible I'm afraid, and for that I can only apologise.

I have sent messages through the Navarr to Civil service prognosticators, who have informed me there is a conjunction to the Vale of Lost Souls close to the start of the summit, at seven, for five people.

Please come, or send people who can speak in your name. Violence will hopefully not be required, wisdom and authority would be more welcome, but you might wish for one or two schlacta in case anyone becomes angry when denied entry.
