

Juba the Varushkan,

I am very pleased to hear it! I will send an envoy to your Anvil this Summer Solstice to proceed with the next steps of our exchange. Please, I would take it as a favour were you to ensure the envoy is well treated — and, of course, unharmed.

Make sure the Wintermarkers have their payment ready — and you might also want to suggest that they ensure they have some Autumn magicians on hand. After all, is not a deal only as good as the security that ensures that both sides get what they want without any trickery or false-dealing? The Dragons have, in their wisdom, granted me great security indeed.

Skogr the Red