

Caska of the Crimson Reapers,

I hear you have withdrawn from the High Tontine.

This is your right. If it would entertain you or you feel you may have something to gain from discussing with my Herald how you were persuaded to do so, then please speak with Oscuro.

The Herald will be with Oscuro in Anvil and should be available from around half past seven on the Friday evening. I have asked Oscuro to arrange for the Herald to speak with a handful of others from this time onwards if they wish it and you are among them.

You are under no obligation to do this, but if it would interest you do check with Oscuro where they can be found.

Lanister, Secretary to the Sovereign Lord of the City of Chains
