

Over the past few nights your sleep has been disturbed by nightmares. Details have been becoming clearer. This was the dream last night

You are sat at a banqueting table alone in an abandoned house. It is cold and dark, except for a lone candle, yet the table is laden with food - all kinds of meat, fish, eggs, and cheese. You start to eat as the food is hot and fresh and you are ravenously hungry. As you finish one dish another appears in its place, its contents colder and less fresh, but your hunger never abates as you gorge yourself. Slowly but surely the food in front of you starts to rot, but you still eat it, unable to sate your appetite. Despite the putridity in front of you the allure does not decrease even when the head of your domiro is placed in front of you. You remove an eye ball with a silver spoon and bring it towards your mouth

You awoken at dawn in a cold sweat.

---

Ribbon ID:

Your character is CURSED. While cursed, your character has the following effects:

- Physical effect: You may choose to make your skin paler than normal, for instance by using white or yellow make-up.
- Roleplaying effect: You continue to have nightmares similar to the one above whenever you sleep.
- Roleplaying effect: You feel more emotionally distant and calculating than normal. You are more willing to do whatever it takes to achieve your goals, even if that is to the detriment of others or the actions required are unpleasant.
- Roleplaying effect: You are hungrier than normal, and unusual things, such as your companions, smell appetising.
- Mechanical effect: If this curse is still in effect by midnight on Sunday please speak to a ref at the the first reasonable opportunity