

CURSE

Curse ID: 19819

Kerioth's Curse of the Pact

The mighty oak, the wondrous flower; all things wither, in your power.

Role-playing Effect: Your character is CURSED. While this curse is in effect:

- You find it easy to feel personally slighted when others boast about their achievements, qualities, or possessions.
- It is hard not to see any reference to such things as boasting.
- It is easy to imagine that others are intentionally attempting to make you feel less adequate, or less significant, than they are.
- It feels natural for your thoughts to return often to revenging slights.

Mechanical Effect: In addition, while affected by this CURSE:

- You may not bond to any Armour-type magic item.
- Twice each day, you may cast the WEAKNESS spell as if you knew it and without spending any mana.
- This will cause the roleplaying effect caused by this CURSE to intensify for a short time.