Cold-Hearted Challenge

You have bound yourself to a challenge from Kaela,
The Lady of Oblivion.

To confront the inevitable, seek the good death, face the abyss.
To live, to fight, to strive.

You are occasionally struck by dramatic dreams or visions of you and those you fight alongside falling in battle.

Enemies to all sides, back-to-back, going down swinging.
(It's up to you whether you find these visions disturbing, or exciting, or something else entirely.)

You have the feeling at times that Kaela is watching you.
Not judging or reacting. Simply watching. Waiting.

Come Autumn she will call to you, to present tales of those who fought and died whilst fighting beneath your banner.

She is patient...
