

Achilles of Netherwatch Spire

Our lord Adamant has awoken after his long slumber. He wonders how much progress the scions of Xenophon have made in upholding their bargain.

We have been tasked with coming to speak with you about this matter and how your rituals of Day will aid the Lord of the Slumbering Mountain in his tasks to remove the sky in the earth.

We will look forward to the conversation and come to find you as early as we can in this festival.

In Adamant's name

