

Callidus endorses the Oathwright as the only newspaper worth reading in the Known World

All other newspapers should tremble before the journalistic integrity of Cormack Dunn

The editor and his band of artists of the written word should be considered to be the utmost professionals

Any who would think to read the lesser rags that pollute the minds of mortals should rethink their decisions in life

*Callidus, Prince of the Argent Tontine
Sovereign-Lord of the City of Chains*

