

My Dear Ynez,

The bearer of this letter is Lucretia de Santos, a Naga and the Signeura of the Carta Bilancia. I do not know her as well as I would like, but her predecessor, Roberta Bilancia, was a dear friend and client of mine. I owe it to his memory to make introduction for a member of his guild; and I would be delighted if you could listen to her story, and treat her with kindness.

In this act, may my own Reckoning to the Carta Bilancia be clear.

I sincerely hope to make it to Anvil for the Masquerade of the Reaper this year - I haven't danced in months.

Happy New Year, dearheart.

The bearer of this letter is one Lucretia de Sarvos, a Naga and the Signeura of the Carta Bilancia. I will admit, that I do not know her as well as I would like, but her predecessor, Roberta Bilancia, was a trusted client of mine. I owe it to his memory to make fair introduction for a member of his Carta. I would be delighted if you could listen to her story, and treat her with kindness. I offer this advantage to you and your friends in recognition of your assistance with previous matters; and in this act, may my own Reckoning to the Carta Bilancia be clear.

Sincerely Yours,

Andre Lazzi di Sarvos

Maestro Niccolo of the Four Rivers Theatre

To: The Children of the Night Market,

In recognition of your recent assistance, I offer this advantage to you, in the hope that it may go some way to settling the Dead Reckoning between us. The bearer of this letter is one Lucretia de Sarvos, a Maga and the Signeura of the Carta Bilancia – a reckoner's guild in Sarvos. I do not know her as well as I would like, but her predecessor, Roberta Bilancia, was a trusted client of mine, back in the day. I owe it to his memory to make fair introduction for a member of his Carta. I would be delighted if you could listen to her story, and treat her with kindness.

I hope you are well, and that Fortune smiles upon you.

Yours, in Virtue,
Andre Lazzi di Sarvos.
