

One more I write to those who have walked under the Halberd Arch.

I am glad that the ring of Holberg is now in the presence of one of Holberg, one Jonah Yakovitch of the Printer's Guild. I am glad that Alexandra's ring is now in the hold of our great city – the greatest city in the Empire.

We now must look for the necklace that was given at the formation of the League. If we find it before the other cities we may place this ring on it (I assume Jonah Yakovitch will be willing, if not there will have to be a conversation).

Once this necklace is whole again, when it is presented in a great work, it will show of the unity of the four cities, not be used to belittle the mighty Holberg due to the jealousy of the other cities.

With Holberg on the Throne once again, this is the time for all to see the true majesty of our Great City.

I am glad that all those loyal to our great city are working together.

My thanks

For Holberg

Rozamond of Holberg
