

One night close to the Summer solstice, you are awoken by a hammering on your door.

It knocks thirteen times and then ceases.

By the time you are composed enough to open your front door there is nothing there but the howling of the night. Excepting the amulet that has been left outside your door.

You should have a Jewellery item in your pack : ribbon number 14434