

When the wind blows hardest, we grow strong.

This concerns The Trials of the Pallid Charm.

Drefa Brackensong you have been chosen to progress to the next stage as a Participant in the Trials.

YOU MUST NOT TELL ANYONE WHAT YOU ARE OFFERED HERE. IF YOU DO, YOU MAY SUFFER PAIN AND MAY FAIL IN THE TRIALS.

You may have discussed what you asked for with others before you received this. That is known and not wrong. But from now on you cannot confirm whether you are offered what you asked for, or something different.

The next stage of the trials tests how much the boon offered to you here by the Tomb King matters to you.

You are invited to The Open Chamber under the Dark Sky at 9 on the Saturday Evening of the Solstice. This is reached from the Regio of the Unquiet Hounds, in Bittershore, Osium.

In the open chamber you may take one more step towards receiving a boon from The Tomb King. The chamber is a safe place for this trial. None should bring weapons or need armour.

The boon he offers to you is this:

The Hungry Wolf will reveal to you a Winter regio outside the Empire that is within distance of an Imperial border to be reached by Sentinel Gate. As you progress in the trials we will discuss where such a thing can be found.

You must bring a witness.

You spoke with the agents Amaruq or Anya alongside Gawain Splitroot

Bring them with you. If they are not available, bring a replacement.

Remember if you are a Winter mage, the person with you must not be. If you are not a Winter mage, the person with you must be one. If your named witness breaks that rule, bring a replacement.

Understand, that there are many steps between here and winning the boon.
