

Teacher of the Chalice

You feel something like a thread stretching between you and the person who gave you this card. For the rest of the summit, when you teach them something, you feel a gentle warmth, as though bathed in starlight.

---